Section A: Introduction

A1: A note to the Head Teacher

- The headteacher must keep the policy up to date to show how health and safety is managed within the school environment.
- The employer (Kent County Council) is responsible for health and safety, though tasks may be delegated, the responsibility cannot.
- You should consult with staff and governors when devising the policy, and ensure that all staff have an opportunity to contribute, and so staff understand what it means for them.
- Some schools prefer to devise a short policy and cross reference to other documents held in school.
- The policy must be signed and dated by the headteacher and chair of governors, the policy should also be reviewed at least annually or sooner if there is any reason to suspect it is no longer valid.
- As the policy is a management tool, it is likely to be one of the first documents you are asked to produce when visited by an HSE inspector.

A2: The law regarding health and safety policies

A written health and safety policy is a statutory requirement where an employer employs five or more people. It must be consulted with the employees and recognised trade unions, and shown to an HSE Inspector or Kent County Council (KCC) auditor if requested.

A robust safety policy demonstrates to staff, pupils and visitors that the organisation values their health, safety and welfare.

The allocation of responsibilities and the recording of particular arrangements to implement the policy encourage a clear approach to the management of health and safety.

For schools which are developing or revising their health and safety policy, this guidance and suggested detail can be presented to staff for consultation to add specific content, and staff can have adequate time to have an input into the policy contents. After any appropriate re-drafting following discussion with the SLT, this can then be represented to the governing body for approval and adoption. Therefore, writing the policy in consultation with all staff clarifies the arrangements made and helps give them ownership.

This process also provides for information to be shared later with others such as visitors and contractors.

The policy will then be reviewed annually in line with the cycle on the management plan but will be amended if new legislation/procedures etc. make this necessary.

The headteacher will ensure the overall implementation of this policy.

Dealing with Suspicious Mail

There is no suggestion that schools are likely to be the subject of a terrorist attack using chemical or biological substances via the mail services and the threat level has not increased over recent years. However, given the media comment on the potential for such events, the following guidance is provided for handling incoming post.

What to look for:

- A letter or package with suspicious or threatening messages written on it
- Letters with oily stains
- Envelopes that are bulky, discoloured or have a strange smell
- Sent from an unfamiliar sender
- Excessive tape or string
- Unusual weight in relation to size
- Unexpected post from overseas
- Post with no stamps or non-cancelled stamps
- Post with incorrect spelling of common names, places or titles
- Postmark that does not match a return address
- No return address

When opening post:

- Examine/feel unopened packages for unusual objects or powder
- Use a letter opener or other means rather than fingers
- Open with a minimum amount of movement

- Do not blow into the envelope in order to open it
- Look at the contents inside an envelope/package before tipping them out
- Keep hands away from mouth during mail opening
- Always wash hands after handling mail

If you are concerned about any item of post:

- Do not open or disturb it any further
- Inform the Police

If you think you have opened a contaminated package:

- Do not touch the package further or move it to another location
- Notify the Police by calling 999
- Shut windows and doors in the room and prevent anyone else from entering
- Switch off any fans or air conditioning equipment
- If the package has not been opened leave the room, securing it if possible
- Wash your hands thoroughly as soon as possible
- Keep yourself separate from other people and remain available for medical examination if that is subsequently deemed necessary
- Remain calm! In order to be affected by most toxins you have to get enough of the substance into your body through broken skin, swallowing it or inhaling it
- Keep the package and its contents in the room where it was opened
- Remain available to brief the emergency services

Bomb or Attack Threat

Most threats are made over email and the overwhelming majority are hoaxes, made with the intent of causing alarm and disruption. Any hoax is a crime and, no matter how ridiculous or unconvincing, must be reported to the police.

Dial 999 and Police will respond. You should always consider their advice before a decision is taken to close or evacuate.

On receipt of a threat be it by email, social media or telephone:

- Activate School Emergency Management Business Continuity Plan (SEMBCP)

If a bomb threat is made by telephone, stay calm and listen carefully.

Action during the call

- Ensure that any recording facility is switched on
- Obtain as much information as possible

- Try to record the exact wording of the threat

Action immediately after the Caller rings off

- Activate SEMBCP
- Dial 1471 (if that facility operates and you have no automatic number display) to see if you can get their number
- Call Police via 999 and give your impressions of the caller and an exact account of what was said
- Immediately report the incident to the relevant manager
